

Appointment viewed 'as interim job'

Banks nominated to Road Commission

Saying that she was flattered and pleased with the appointment, Mary Ann Banks, Romulus' Mayor Pro Tem, was nominated by Wayne County's first chief executive, William Lucas, to the Wayne County Road Commission.

Mrs. Banks was one of three candidates — the other two are W. Curt Boller, Brownstown Township supervisor, and Dr. Janice Frazier, president of a Detroit management consultant firm and a member of Lucas' transition team — named to replace the existing three members of the WCRC.

However, whether Mrs. Banks or the other two appointees ever take office will depend upon court action.

Lucas, who has the power under the new county charter, is being challenged by the present members of the WCRC in court. The present members are arguing, through their attorney, that Lucas doesn't have the power to fire them. They say they have the right to finish out their terms of office.

A court hearing has been scheduled for Friday to air the complaints. In the meantime, an injunction has been signed by Judge Thomas Roumell, ordering Lucas not to dismiss the road commissioners before the hearing.

"I was very pleased and very flattered that I was asked to serve on the commission," Mrs. Banks said. She was present at an early morning breakfast last Saturday when Lucas was sworn in as the county's first executive. Later, Lucas made the appointments.

"I have known Bill Lucas for several years and I respect him for what he has accomplished in the past and what he will do for this county in the future," Mrs. Banks continued. "In the past, when he served as sheriff of Wayne County he treated Romulus fairly. I have always respected his judgment."

Asked whether she would resign her seat on City Council or if she viewed the $10,000 per year WCRC position as a "conflict of interest" with her present position, Mrs. Banks replied: "I don't see any con-

South LL pancakes are hot items

The South Little League's Pancake Breakfast and Arts & Crafts show, scheduled for Sat., Jan. 15 has attracted a lot of attention. More than 10 persons have committed themselves to tables for the crafts display, according to representatives of the auxiliary which is staging the program.

The Romulus LL Baseball Auxiliary is planning the breakfast and the crafts show to raise money for construction of a baseball complex. The breakfast is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. at Progressive Hall, located on Ozga Rd.

There is a $3 and $1.75 charge for adults and children respectively who wish to attend the all-you-can-eat pancake and sausage breakfast. For further information about table availability contact Sharon Henry at 941-9428. For ticket information, telephone 941-7244 or 941-6962.

First Step going in right direction

In July of 1982, Romulus made an "investment" of $600 in First Step, a Western Wayne County project on domestic assault. How is that "investment" going?

In a note to city council last week, Deborah Benjamin, director of the project, said that First Step continues to assist persons in providing emergency crisis intervention, counseling, legal and financial assistance, and transportation.

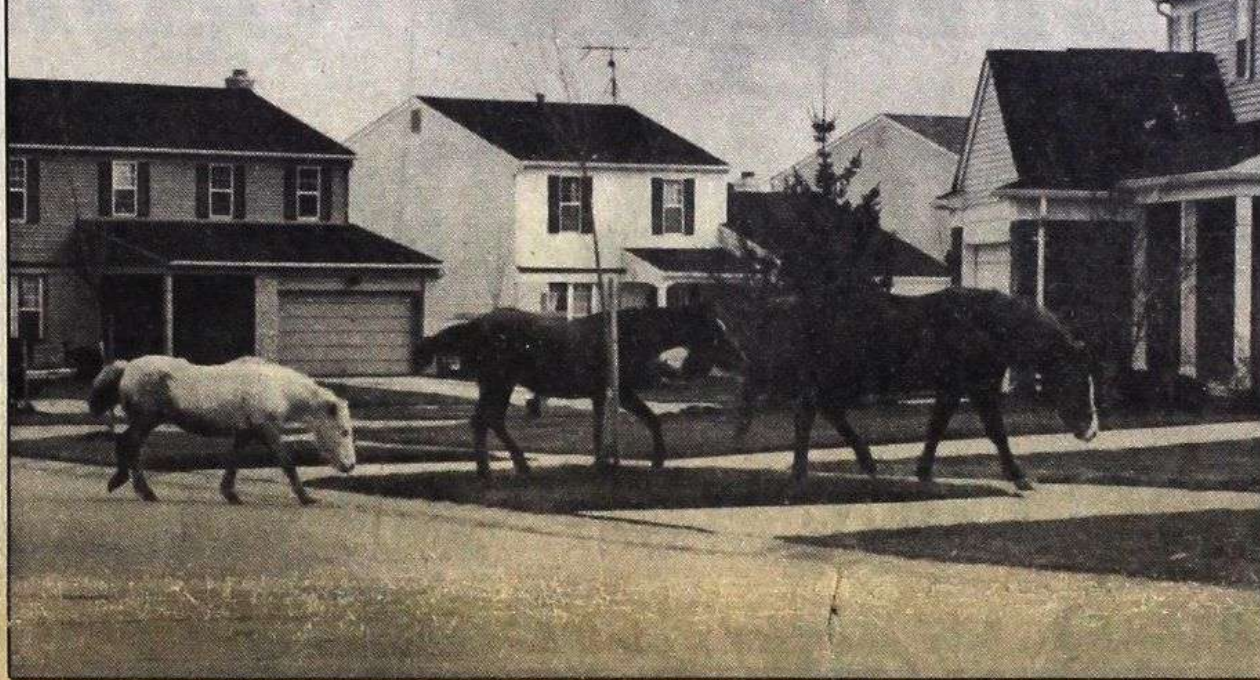

"Recently we have been continuing to seek out ways to promote and reduce the incidence of domestic violence," Ms. Benjamin noted.

In 1981, First Step assisted 35 different families from the city of Romulus. Through September of 1982, 29 different families have been helped. "Due to high unemployment the number of families served is expected to be higher than the previous year."

A Canton subdivision obviously offers greener pastures to three equine visitors who made themselves at home on the neatly manicured lawns. The horses had wandered away from their owner's stable on Lotz Road on Monday, but they were rounded up without assistance from the police. The trio later reported that they enjoyed the residents' "horsepitality."

'Codification'

City to update laws, ordinances

Romulus is in the process of updating and compiling into one volume the laws and ordinances of the city.

The tedious job, assigned to the City Clerk's staff, will be accomplished with the outside help of a firm headed by Louis C. Andrews. The final draft will need final approval from council.

The "codification of ordinances" has come under close scrutiny of members of council, some of whom are concerned the ordinances may be inadvertently changed or revised while in the process of revision and consolidation.

"I wish to review the proposed codification," councilman Jimmie Raspberry informed his colleagues, "And what changes and amendments are made before action is taken. I would not like us to change any intent of any ordinance inadvertently by switching words around."

Raspberry pointed out that his concern is that the intent of previous councils as well as the present are kept intact. "In other words, one word changed can change the entire meaning of an ordinance or law."

On Jan. 19, 1982, by the direction of council, the mayor and the clerk were authorized to enter into an agreement with Andrews for the purpose of codification of the city ordinances.

"After a lot of work on both the city and Mr. Andrews' part," noted a statement from Raymond Cantrell, the city clerk, "the final rough draft of the codification is ready for council approval. We have received from Mr. Andrews and have for your (council) review in the clerk's office copies of this rough draft."

The city clerk's communique continued: "All attempts have been made by the administration to incorporate all ordinances that have

'JOBTA'

McNamara visits Romulus to explain job training program

Romulus Councilman Barry Baumann has extended, and Mayor Edward McNamara has accepted, an invitation to present the Jobs Training Act (JOBTA) to the city council.

McNamara, who serves as the City of Livonia's mayor, was to appear before council last night. "The purpose of my visit," McNamara said by telephone on Monday, "is to inform the city what alternatives they have because there has been some misunderstanding and misconceptions."

A consortium, representing 13 northwestern Wayne County communities, brought together by Mayor McNamara is seeking to get a $6 million federal grant under the Jobs Training Act (JOBTA), which is the Republicans' answer to the CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act).

If under CETA the prime sponsor status was given to those communities with more than 100,000 population, then, under JOBTA, the designation will go to those areas with more than 200,000 population. The City of Detroit, which houses the largest hunk of population in Wayne County, is joining with Highland Park and Hamtramck along with the Pointes in hoping to become a service area, while the Downriver Community Conference hopes to represent 16 communities in the county including Romulus, Van Buren, Sumpter, Belleville, and Huron.

Newly-elected county executive William Lucas contends that the fragmentation would hurt and divide the county. He sees the move by McNamara and the group as "a move to erode the county executive office's powers."

"I think the press is partially to blame for making this a McNamara vs. Lucas thing," McNamara said. "The program is jointly run by business, labor and educators — it isn't run by the mayor's office. And one of our prime concerns is that the money isn't eaten up in staff and bureaucratic paperwork but goes to help people train or re-train for jobs."

"The state's in trouble. It's no secret and if we can help people get jobs then we should all be behind this," McNamara added.

McNamara pointed out that his visit to the council chambers was not a move to divide communities, "but I want them to be aware of the alternatives. I want them to make their own decision, however."

Police busy over holidays

New Year brings death to local teen hitchhiker

A rash of incidents including the city's first auto fatality of the New Year kept Romulus police busy during the holidays.

The city recorded its first fatal accident at 1:30 a.m. on Sat. Jan. 1 when a teen-age youth who reportedly had been drinking stepped in front of a car and was killed at Eureka and Merriman Rds.

The youth, Stephen Sizemore, 18, of Romulus, was one of three hitchhikers early Saturday morning who had left a party, police said. For no apparent reason, Sizemore suddenly stepped out in front of a vehicle driven by Thomas Kanalas, 20, of Southgate, police said.

Kanalas told police, and witnesses verified the story, that the victim appeared in front of the vehicle before he had an opportunity to stop. Sizemore was conveyed to Wayne County General Hospital and pronounced dead on arrival.

"The story we received," said Det. David Early, "is that the three youths, including the victim, had been hitchhiking home from a New Year's Eve party. The victim stepped in front of the vehicle. Witnesses told us that there was no way the driver could have avoided the accident."

No charges are pending. Last year six persons lost their lives due to auto accidents on Romulus roads.

In the meantime, a Romulus woman will face manslaughter charges in the death last week of a Dearborn man who was killed, police said, when the defendant drove "almost head-on" into the victim's vehicle.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office has issued a warrant charging Fern Patterson with manslaughter with a motor vehicle. Mrs. Patterson will be arraigned on the charge later this week.

According to Romulus police, the defendant was eastbound on Ecorse Rd. when she attempted to execute a left turn and maneuvered into the path of David Sledz, 30, of Dearborn. Sledz was traveling westbound on Ecorse when the fatal accident occurred.

In an unrelated case, Romulus police are also seeking an armed robber who held up a gas station employee at 7084 Wayne Rd. on Dec. 28 around 6 p.m. and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash.

According to the employee, the robber, a 5-10, 150 pound man who is in his early 20's, came into the station on the pretense of purchasing cigarettes. The man held his hand in his jacket pocket and ordered the employee to "hand over all the money."

However, the employee responded in disbelief and replied: "Show me what you got."

The robber then produced a handgun, convincing the victim, who surrendered the money in the till. The gunman escaped on foot.

However, in a separate incident a would-be robber raced out of a gas station when the employee pressed the burglar alarm, foiling the robbery attempt.

The employee related to police that a man, about 24-years old, 5 feet 8, strolled into the station at 35575 Van Born, and asked to use the restroom. The stranger suddenly whipped out a handgun and announced the holdup.

But the attendant walked to the rear of the station and pushed the alarm which convinced the would-be robber to flee from the building.

Romulus police have arrested one man and are seeking a second who were involved in alleged van thefts. Police say that they have apprehended and charged Terrence Matero, of Detroit, with unauthorized driving away of a motor vehicle and with concealing stolen property.

Matero was arraigned in 34th District Court where he stood mute. Bond was set at $1,500.

According to Romulus police, a concerned citizen phoned to report a suspicious van on Brandt Street. When police arrived on the scene they spotted two vans whose drivers fled the area in a high rate of speed.

One of the drivers lost control of his vehicle and it rolled over into a ditch on Eureka Rd. The driver was arrested. The second suspect managed to elude police.

"The vans had been stolen," said Det. Early. "One was reported stolen out of Taylor; the other was in the process of being stolen from the home on Brandt Street."

Det. Early said that his department is still looking for the driver of the second van.

Alarm law defused

Hopes for an alarm ordinance that would help cut down the number of false alarms in Romulus appear destined to doom, according to City Attorney Stephen J. Hitchcock.

"Based on the fact that there is a new state legislation limiting the right of municipalities to adopt ordinances regulating fire alarms, I would suggest that the city not adopt any alarm system ordinance," Hitchcock wrote in a memorandum to the Mayor's Office last week.

Belleville beautification awards are announced

Nature has blessed Belleville with a lake and a river and with people like Ray Heininger, David Brown, June Roberts and many others who choose to keep their city "beautiful".

Monday night, a score of residents and businesses were cited by city council and presented with Beautification Awards. The awards were presented by Mayor Justin Emerson.

The awards for Most Improved Residential went to Ray Heininger, of 303 East Huron Drive; for Most Improved Commercial — to David Brown Funeral Home, 460 East Huron Drive; Honorable Mention — residential: June Roberts, 47 Madelon; Honorable Mention Commercial — Pump & Groceries, 496 Main Street.

The award for "Continued Excellence in Maintaining Property" went to National Bank of Detroit, 465

Main.

Each recipient received a "Certificate of Appreciation" from the city. Members of the Beautification Committee who selected the winners included Marguerite Emerson, Illene Ibach and Rosemary Loria.

Racquetball club has Supreme offer for area residents

If you're a racquetball enthusiast or want to stay fit, head for the Supreme Racquetball Club in Romulus — it has a bargain for you.

"What we're doing," said Robert Armbruster, owner of the club, "is offering former members of the Sports Illustrated Club and area residents a unique package. Those who sign up with us now may do so at reduced prices."

Sports Illustrated, located in the Lemontree Apartment complex, closed its doors last year and many of its former members are seeking nearby racquetball courts. Supreme Racquetball will offer those members membership in the club at a bargain rate.

"We are presently waiving the $10 registration fee normally charged for our women's fitness program," Armbruster added. "That is, if they sign up now." The program costs $44 per year.

Racquetball players will pay an $85 membership fee and $12.50 per month to play and have access to the courts for unlimited periods.

Has the economic tailspin hurt the recreation industry?

"Yes it has, but I believe, like everything else, we're going through a transition period," Armbruster said. "The business is still there but we must find new ways to provide the service to our customers."

Armbruster said he has a fully trained staff to help and instruct in the fitness program. He also plans to employ an aerobics instructor. Racquetball at the club, which is located at 6715 Brandt, is available seven days a week, from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. or later, "depending upon reservations."

Women's fitness classes are conducted from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. on Monday through Friday and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.

The club houses six racquetball courts, a sauna, showers, carpeted lockerrooms, and a nursery which also is unique, says Armbruster.

"The nursery is not only a place to drop off the children, but our philosophy is that the nursery is there for an educational experience. It's not just a keep-them-out-of-trouble place. They'll learn while their mothers are taking part in classes."

The manager is Judy Syria and Colleen Herzna is an instructor.

Winter wildflower

"A Winter Wildflower Walk," a family program, will be held at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock on Sunday, January 16 at 2 p.m.

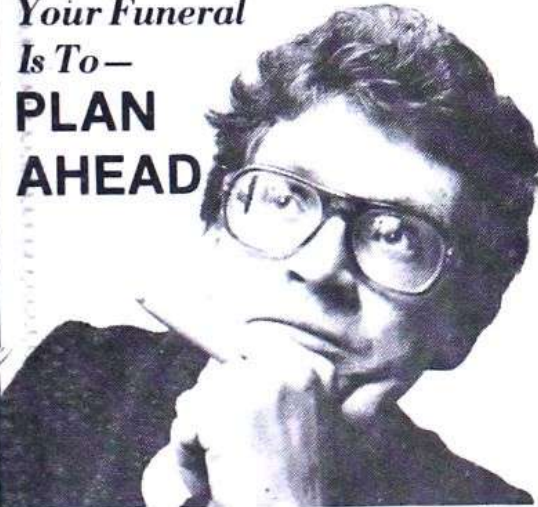

Park Naturalist Mike George will conduct a plant walk, which will feature last summer's wildflowers — now lifeless, but nonetheless interesting and valuable in many ways.

This program is "free." However, advance registration is required.

For information/registration — contact the Nature Center at Oakwoods Metropark — Phone 697-9181 (c/o Belleville).

A vehicle entry permit is required (Annual: regular - $7 or senior citizen - $2 or daily - $2).

'Heat Bank'

Local families getting financial assistance

The Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the American Red Cross has helped 69 persons in the first three weeks of its program of assistance to low income elderly and handicapped Michigan Consolidated Gas Company customers who face shutoff because of inability to pay their heating bills. The total amount of assistance was just under fifty two thousand dollars. More than 500 telephone inquiries have been received by the "Heat Bank" since the program began December 15.

The Red Cross has established a "Heat Bank" office at Trinity Episcopal Church, 11575 Belleville Road, Belleville to serve western Wayne and Washtenaw County clients. Telephone inquiries will be accepted at 697-2036.

Assistance to Michigan Consolidated customers is funded by a $2 million allocation from MichCon to assist its customers throughout the state. If contributions from the general public, including MichCon customers, are sufficient, customers of other fuel vendors in the MichCon service area will become eligible for assistance as of January 18, 1983.

The project will continue only as long as there is a need and sufficient funds are available. If and when available funds are exhausted, the program will be terminated.

Contributions from the general public may be made payable to "Southeastern Heat Bank" and mailed to P.O. Box 900, Detroit, Michigan 48268.

Volunteers are also needed to help administer the "Heat Bank" program. Interested persons should call the Red Cross Office of Volunteers at 494-2866.

Body found in Canton

Police baffled over 'execution style' murder

A rabbit hunter on Sunday found the badly decomposed body of an apparently murdered Inkster man in a field off Haggerty Road near the Conrail railroad tracks in Canton.

The body has been identified as that of James Earl Belcher, 31, who was reported missing July 4. Police said he was killed by a gunshot to the head.

Canton police admit they are baffled by the case.

"We don't know if he was killed there or slain elsewhere and taken to the site," said Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton Police Department detective bureau.

"The man was unemployed, and there's no question he didn't have any money. That makes robbery an unlikely motive."

Although Belcher appears to have been the victim of an "execution-type" slaying, police do not believe the murder was drug-related.

"As far as we know at this time, he was not into dealing drugs, and he was not a user of hard drugs," Stewart said.

To the knowledge of police, Belcher was not involved in any other criminal activity, he added. The murdered man's police record lists only several minor infractions as a teen-ager and young adult.

In addition, Stewart said, police are not aware of any animosity toward Belcher by any of his acquaintances.

Because the body was so badly decomposed, it was difficult to establish Belcher's identity.

Stewart said that identification was made from skin tissue on the body's left index finger and palm. Another clue was the corpse was missing a right forefinger, as was Belcher, he said.

"This is our case," Stewart said. "Inkster now has a closed missing person case, and we've got an open murder investigation."

According to a spokesman for the Inkster police, Belcher was last seen on July 2 when he left home to walk to a store. He was reported missing two days later by Regina Salters, with whom he shared living quarters.

"We didn't have any reason to suspect that he was abducted," the Inkster detective said. "Right now we have no motive for anyone to harm him."

Milton Mack resigns from Wayne Council

Mayor Pro Tem Milt Mack announced his resignation last week as a member of the Wayne City Council to assume a seat on the new Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Mack, a Democrat, defeated Republican Loren Bennet and Libertarian Charles Hutton last November in the 11th County Commission District election.

"It has been a genuine honor to have served these past five years with a group of individuals who place community service above personal gain," said Mack. "Despite this region's failing economy, the City of Wayne, through skilled leadership, has continued to grow."

Lucas names Romulus' Mary Ann Banks to Wayne County Road Commission post

long resident of Romulus, Mrs. Banks and her husband, Bobby D. have three children.

She views the new appointment as a "challenge" and as an "interim position".

Council voted in November on a resolution to abolish the Wayne County Road Commission. The vote was unanimous.

"I have accepted the nomination with the knowledge that this is an 'interim position', that there is a movement presently to abolish the controversial commission (Wayne County Road Commission).

"However, in order to do so the voters will have to make that decision, and, in the meanwhile, I will attempt to bring accountability to county government," Mrs. Banks added.

The new county charter stipulates that the three-member Wayne County Road Commission will be appointed by the county executive to serve for four years. The present members of the board are arguing that they can't be replaced until the end of their six-year terms.

Codification

City in process of compiling laws been adopted since January, 1982 and all amendments to specific ordinances in the final draft.

"It has been reviewed and finalized by the administration and the city attorney. The last phase before sending it to the printer and completion of the codification is that an ordinance be adopted for the printing of said codification," the report stated.

Cantrell stressed later that the city needs an orderly and systematic method of compiling its ordinances and having them handy for those who need to utilize them.

"The codification will bring us up to date," Cantrell added. "It will give us an effective means of knowing where to find what ordinance and law — it is a valuable library of laws for our city."

Councilman Pete Bergeron agreed and asked for a resolution for the first reading. It was shelved until all the councilmen were able to review the draft.

Councilman John Lewkowicz agreed that "codification would serve the city and its residents well, but my concern is that we do not change the intent of the laws that have been passed and the cost of printing not be exorbitant."

Caring

The spirit of Christmas was upon employees of Wayne Bank, who gathered gifts to be distributed among young patients in the pediatrics ward of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland and Annapolis Hospital in Wayne this holiday season. Susan Mayne, RN, at WCGH accepted the gift donations from Tim Miller, assistant manager of the Michigan Avenue office in Canton Township (from left), Ann Karll of the Wayne branch loan department, Janet Volante from the Wayne office, Joyce Fenwick, assistant manager of the Ford Road office in Canton Township, and Mary Baryo in bookkeeping at the Wayne office. — ANP photo.

WCGH 'chief guard' retires

William Anderson, a longtime resident of Inkster, was honored by a group of friends and relatives upon his retirement from the Wayne County General Hospital.

William Anderson

Anderson began his career as an attendant, becoming part of the Wayne County Hospital family. He soon began thinking of making a change. The change came in the form of being promoted to the position of "Hospital Institutional Guard".

Driven by high ambitions and a lifelong habit of hard work, he was later promoted to "Chief" of the Institutional Guards.

On Dec. 10, a very small group of devoted friends decided to celebrate Anderson's retirement by way of a small mid-evening party. Anderson was honored by Inkster Councilman Willie Johnson, a former Wayne County employee who served with Chief Anderson.

The certificate honored Chief Anderson for his thirty two years and 10 months of dedicated service to the county.

"Chief Anderson was a dedicated employee who devoted much of his time to civic affairs. Although he maintained a low profile, Chief Anderson contributed much of his time to his community as well as surrounding communities in assisting young people in successfully obtaining employment," Johnson said.

When asked about what he will do to keep himself busy, Anderson replied "garden-ing, redecorating, and spending most of my leisure time with my lovely wife, Minnie Anderson."

A high spirited state-ly man of medium height, "Andy" considers himself a lucky man.

Mrs. Dorothy Jackson, Mrs. Rosemary Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Beanum and a host of other friends would again like to say "congratulations and good luck" to our "Giant", William L. Anderson.

Nite that Belleville High went up in flames

Jan. 8, 1953 triggers a score of memories

By PARK E. GREGORY
Special to Associated Newspapers

Thirty years ago on the night of January 8, 1953 Belleville High School burned.

The Red Cross had just closed its blood bank with a disappointing 107 pints donated when smoke was discovered coming from the east end of the basement.

The fire shortly ate its way into a ventilating shaft and sent the flames into the attic.

Spectators stood in disbelief on the snow-covered lawn to watch the roaring inferno jump from room to room on the second floor until it reached the west end of the building.

Some spectators, many of them students, stood with tears streaming down their faces when firemen asked them to throw hard-packed snowballs to break out the windows so streams of water could be injected into the rooms yet to burn.

Cleveland Roe was superintendent and the board membership was Lester Ellward — president, Jewett Amerman — secretary, W.J. Coykendall — treasurer, Howard Kirk — trustee, and Robert Hay — trustee.

The cause of the fire was thought to be a light bulb hanging on a cord which was tied to one side and touching cardboard boxes of stored materials.

It was theorized that the lamp has been left on and in time had ignited the box.

The study hall and gym were quickly divided into class rooms to compensate for the lost rooms and classes resumed at the high school with a loss of less than ten school days. Basketball practice and games were held at Romulus High School.

The January 16th issue of the paper, known then as the Enterprise — Roman, was published by Ray Clift and Lewis Robson.

Mrs. Joseph Spring wrote in her Belleville Brevities column that Miss Margaret Hope was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer. Also Mr. Fred C. Fisher was in Lansing Wednesday on school business.

Wiley Pitcher, Belleville city clerk, and Donna Belle Renton, Van Buren Township clerk, advertised notice of registration for the primary election to be held February 16.

Dwight D. Eisenhower was due to be inaugurated January 20.

C. Don Miller has just become Kiwanian president and William Burhop first vice-president.

The Belleville Rotary Club has just celebrated its fourteenth birthday on January 13 with the Rev. Charles Bayless, president.

Madelyn Colcaire's Tussie Muss column stated that the magic of a smile cannot be bought, begged, borrowed or stolen for it is something that is of no value until it is given away.

Belleville has five car dealers that year. Paul and Aubrey Robson sold Dodge cars on Main Street downtown. John Barber advertised the "New miracle ride Ford with no bounce, pitch or sway." He also had a used '48 Kaiser for $350.

Clarence Heininger's Belleville Garage advertised the new '53 Chevrolet at 489 E. Huron River Drive. The House of Todd, at 665 E. Huron River Drive, offered new Packards and a TV in their showroom for everyone to watch the inauguration.

Hovis K-F Sales at 590 E. Huron River Drive was showing the new Henry J for $1499.

The ads from the Belleville food stores were of particular interest. Midwest (Foodville) offered 5 lbs. of sugar for 39¢, head lettuce at 19¢ and chuck roast at 49¢ per pound.

Young's Market on Main Street advertised Campbell's Tomato Soup at 10¢ a can and bananas at 2 lbs. for 29¢.

Kroger had pork loins for 29¢ per pound and two dozen tangerines for 49¢.

Other businesses such as Kureth's advertised their $14.95 dresses now cut to $7.98 and Mannings full bed sheets in pastels were $3.12.

The Huron Coal Company at French Lansing would deliver a ton of Kentucky Elkhorn coal within six miles for $15.40. A.F.

Fielder Co. advertised coal, fuel oil, sand and gravel.

Michigan Consolidated Gas informed the public that their new rates would increase the bill to residential space heating customers by about 31 cents per month. Detroit Edison invited the public to their office on January 16 to have some birthday cake and help them celebrate their 50th anniversary.

The Peoples State Bank advertised that everyone should have a checking account for paying bills.

The Belvil Theatre was showing "The Thief" with Ray Milland and Rita Gam, also "Everything I Have is Yours" with Monica Lewis and Dennis O'Keefe, in Technicolor.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

She is a 1974 graduate of Crestwood High School, Dearborn Heights.

— Airman Tammy A. Hackney, daughter of Scott E. Hackney of 21390 Elwell Road, Belleville, and Linda S. Cantrell of 1203 Arrow St., Port Charlotte, Fla., has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the medical services field.

Hackney is a 1982 graduate of Campbell County High School, Alexandria, Ky.

NOW, Being a Non-Smoker Can Do More Than Just Improve Your Health

It Can Reduce Your Homeowners Insurance Rates By 10%, Too!

For the past several years Citizens Insurance Company of America has been keeping a watchful eye on non-smokers, and the ways in which household fires get started. We've found a significant difference between the loss ratios of smoking households as compared to non-smoking households. And, we've decided it's time to do something about it.

That's why we're offering a 10% rate reduction on all our homeowners insurance policies for non-smokers. Simply verify that no resident in your home has smoked for at least one year — and you can qualify for the discount.

A 10% Homeowners Rate Reduction for Non-Smokers — an idea whose time has come.

Party special: stuff mushroom caps with pesto, sprinkle on grated parmesan, and bake at 375° for 8 to 12 minutes. (No fresh pesto on hand? Dried package variety is a good substitute.)

From the "Grandma knew best" school of science: researchers at Rutgers University report that extracts of rosemary and sage — natural antioxidants — work better than synthetics such as BHA and BHT in preventing spoilage in fried foods and vegetable oils.

Cooking without salt these days? You can zip up oatmeal and other hot cereals with cinnamon, ginger, and a bit of lemon peel.

Add leftover egg yolk to vinaigrette, and shake. Makes a smoother, richer dressing.

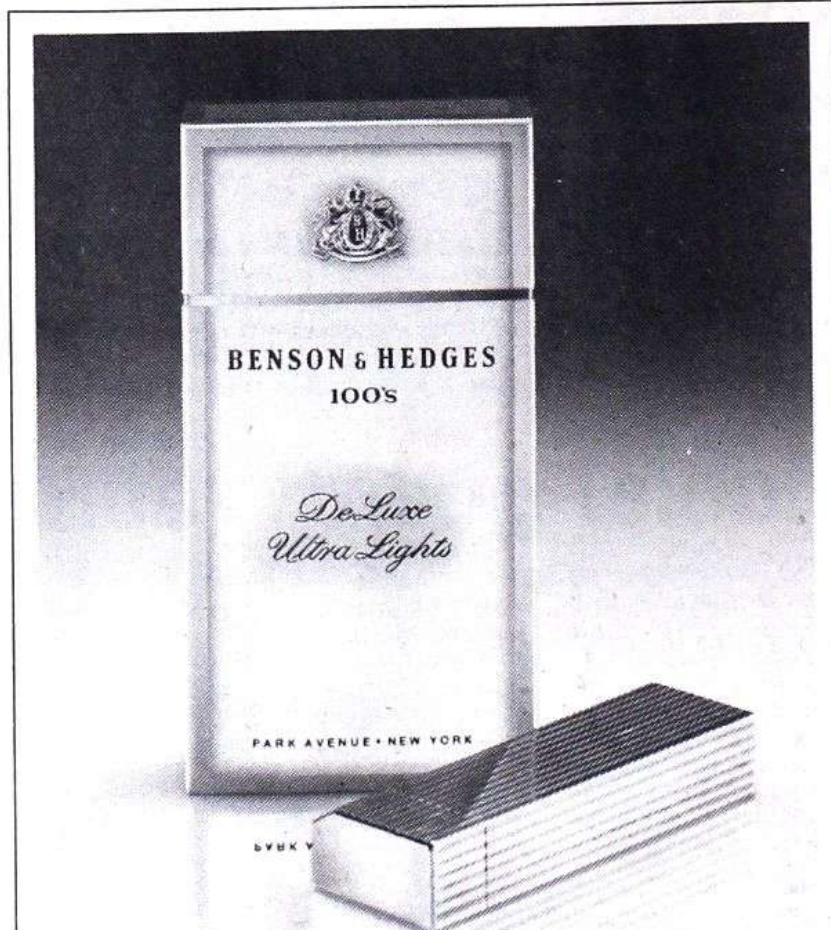

Sensational applesauce calls for 8 to 10 peeled and coarsely chopped Golden Delicious apples, a cup of water, and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Simmer 35 minutes, then add 1/2 cup brandy and cook 5 minutes more. Flow!

The Ronald McDonald House® of Michigan is a 20-bedroom "home away from home" for families of children being treated for cancer and other serious illnesses. It enables families to live together in a home environment and to gain strength through shared experiences with other families staying at the home while their children are undergoing treatment or tests.

The house is located adjacent to Children's Hospital of Michigan, the largest pediatric hospital in the state and second largest in the country.

It is owned and operated by Children's Oncology Services of Michigan, Inc. (C.O.S.O.M.), a non-profit corporation made up primarily of parents whose children have been treated for serious illnesses at the hospital.

The home was begun with a generous pledge by McDonald's® Restaurant Owner/Operators of Michigan and is maintained by low fees and donations.

Kuchta-Cundiff exchange vows in Baptist ceremony

The Antioch Baptist Church was reserved Dec. 11 for the afternoon ceremony which joined Shelby Jean Cundiff and Stephen John Kuchta III in holy matrimony. The one o'clock rite was conducted by The Rev. Stephen De Nef before some 200 assembled friends and relatives including the young couple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Cundiff and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kuchta Jr., all of Belleville.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN J. KUCHTA III

ivory Alfred Angelo gown styled with a little fitted bodice frosted with lace, a sweetheart neckline and long sheer sleeves pleated to the elbow and cuffed in lace. The lace motif was repeated on the skirt in a scalloped inverted V-shaped design which revealed a pleated flounce which swept into a chapel train. Her lace-banded veil which came to a "V" over her forehead, was held by a coronet of flowers which matched the blue silk roses, stephanotis and baby's breath in her cascade bouquet. All the floral arrangements for the occasion were made by the bride.

Serving as honor attendant, Cindy Streetman of Farwell donned a long, blue chiffon gown flounced at the hemline. The bodice featured a triple V-shaped ruffled collar which also formed cape-like sleeves. She tucked a comb with silk blooms attached in her hair and carried a nosegay of blue silk roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical ensembles were Karen Dotson of Ypsilanti and Georgia Westfall of Westland, the bride's cousin.

Four-year-old Debbie Alair was flower girl at her cousin's wedding and appeared in a miniature version of the senior attendants' frocks. The tiny white basket she carried was filled with blue flowers. Ringbearer was 5-year-old David Cundiff, the bride's brother.

John Kuchta of Belleville was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Don Day and the bride's brother, Dale Cundiff, both of Belleville. Ushers were Steve Maupin and Mark Whitehouse, also of Belleville.

For the occasion Mrs. Cundiff chose a rose-colored gown styled with a lace cape-like collar and pleated crepe skirt. Mrs. Kuchta selected a pale grey sheer cocktail-length dress fashioned with long sleeves and high neckline for her son's wedding. Both were honored with white silk rose corsages.

A dinner reception followed in the church parlor after which the newlyweds spent a weekend honeymoon at Livonia's West Holiday Inn. They are now making their home on Estrada Drive in Belleville.

A 1982 graduate of Belleville High School, the new Mrs. Kuchta is employed at K-Mart in the Lakewood Shopping Center. Her husband, a 1980 alumnus of Belleville High, is employed as an electronic circuit board draftsman at Acromag of Wixom and also serves as an airman first class in the Michigan Air National Guard.

Even in winter — a strawberry treat

This wintertime version of strawberry shortcake combines the classic good taste of shortcake with the pleasures of a warm dessert. Simply prepare a buttermilk baking mix and fill individual squares with an easy-to-make frozen strawberry sauce flavored with a hint of cinnamon. These "pocket" shortcakes are served just warm from the oven and topped with a dollop of whipping cream.

Pocket Strawberry Shortcakes

Filling:
 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
 ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced strawberries in syrup, thawed
 2 teaspoons lemon juice

Dough:
 2 cups buttermilk baking mix
 3 tablespoons sugar
 ½ cup milk

Glaze:
 1 egg, beaten
 Sugar, as needed

Sweetened whipped cream, as needed (optional)

Dissolve cornstarch and cinnamon in a little of the berry juice, set aside. In saucepan bring strawberries in their syrup to boiling; gradually stir in cornstarch mixture; cook and stir over medium heat until thickened and clear. Stir in lemon juice; set aside to cool. In mixing bowl combine baking mix with sugar; stir in milk, mixing with a fork just until blended. Turn dough out onto floured surface and knead 8 to 10 times. Roll out to a 10x15-inch rectangle. Cut into six 5-inch squares. Place 2 to 3 tablespoonfuls of cooled berry mixture in center of each square. Moisten edges of squares with water. Bring edges of each square into center to enclose filling; pinch edges to seal. Lift onto greased baking sheet with pancake turner. Brush with beaten egg; sprinkle generously with sugar. Bake in 400 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes, until golden. Serve warm with whipping cream. Makes 6 shortcakes.

It's a Date

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 6 at Edgemont Elementary School. Officers for 1983 will be installed and those with January birthdays and anniversaries will be honored. The Kitchen Belles Band will provide entertainment for the evening.

BELLEVILLE — Friday night dinners are a weekly event at the Belleville Moose Lodge, 831 E. Huron River Drive. Served from 5 to 8 p.m., the menu includes steaks, fish and a number of other entrees.

ANN ARBOR — The Tuesday Night Singles will hold their next meeting from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Jan. 11 at the American Legion Hall on South Main Street. The Merri-men will play for dancing. For further information, call 482-5478.

BELLEVILLE — Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) meets each Thursday at 10 a.m. in the First United Methodist Church, 417 Charles Street. AA Alanon-Alateen holds weekly meetings there at 8 p.m. each Thursday. Call 697-6434 for further information.

BELLEVILLE — The September Days Senior Citizens will hold a general membership meeting at 7 p.m. Jan. 19 at their center in the Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road. Questions and recommendations will be taken from the floor. Coffee and dessert will follow. The Club is planning a 5th birthday party for Jan. 28. See story elsewhere in the Suburban Living section.

New arrival — Carrie Elizabeth Sucher

"Carrie Elizabeth" is the name chosen for the little "pink package" which was delivered a month earlier than expected to David and Karen Sucher of 48441 Bay Shore Dr., Belleville.

Making her debut (in time to share Christmas) at 11:15 a.m. Dec. 11 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, the infant weighed a wee 5 lbs.-8 ozs. and measured 19½ inches.

The couple's first child, Carrie is the new granddaughter of Tom and Gerry Jackson of Morgantown, W. Va. and Merle and Kathryn Sucher of Boynton Beach, Fla. Great-grandparent honors go to Gerald and Lucille Newlon, also of Morgantown.

January heralds fifth birthday of September Days Center

The September Days Senior Citizens Center will be five years old this month. It ends the 1982 year boasting a membership of 1,630 members, 812 of whom are actively associated. Inactive status includes those who are homebound but receive services, those who live elsewhere but receive the club newsletters and others who belong only to receive discounts on trips, purchases, etc.

A new Advisory Committee will be serving the club now that 1983 has arrived. Its roster is comprised of Esther Burlingame, health screening; Doris Simester, publicity; Eileen Blair, recreation; Olga Bauman, homebound services and transportation; Ann Bartlow, membership; Jeanne Shehan, volunteers; Vince Goodnuff, ID cards; Fonia Butler, education; Mary Evelyn Johnson, taxes; George Moses, newsletter and Nellie Van Wormer and Ruth Jacox, friendly visitors.

Nelva Watkins is the current club president and Virginia Melcher is director. The organization's goal this year is to locate a building large enough to hold activities and small enough to afford. Money, as always, is the "key" to the project's success and, therefore, the planning committee is working on a number of exciting and different ideas for fund-raisers. Members are reminded that all dues for 1983 must be paid before the end of January. If they are not received by then, cards will be placed in the inactive file.

Besides its fine membership the club is the proud owner of a school bus and van.

Among the upcoming activities on the group's social calendar is a very special fifth birthday party slated for Jan. 28. A wine and spaghetti dinner will be served and all volunteers who made the Senior Center possible will be honored.

Tables will be decorated according to the months of the year and those participating will be seated at the table designated for their birthday month.

It will be necessary to make early reservations since space is limited. Cost will be $3 for members and $5 for non-members ("member" meaning dues are paid.)

Other future events include a trip to Hamburg's VFW Hall for a fish dinner on Jan. 7 for which the new bus will be in service to accommodate 40 people. Cost for transportation will be $1 for members, $3 for non-members. Diners will leave the Center at 4:15 p.m.

On Jan. 29 "Drama and Dinner" are on the agenda when the group will journey to John Glenn High School for "Inherit the Wind" and a catered dinner. The all-inclusive tab will be $10 per person.

A trip to Merrillville, Ind. with an overnight at the Holiday Inn, breakfast, dinner, shopping and a Johnny Cash performance at the Holiday Star Theater is slated for March 20-21. The cost is $129 per person.

A spring trip to Nashville is being planned and will be a 3-day, 2-night event. Round-trip transportation from Detroit aboard a deluxe highway motorcoach; 2 nights accommodations in Nashville; admission to Opryland and an evening Grand Ole Opry performance; all baggage handling, taxes and gratuities and the service of a tour escort will be $199 per person, double occupancy.

Suburban Living Editor

Written Dec. 27, 1982

IT'S TWO days after Christmas, the holiday's past. Everything's over — it all went too fast. The stockings no longer are hung in their place since jolly St. Nick has completed his race.

The room's now disordered, a cozy old mess, with toys helter-skelter; you surely can guess that our little grandchild, so healthy and hale, is really and truly a "typical" male.

With Matt at our house, his folks and aunts-two, we surely don't lack for something to do. It's "kid-watching" mainly that we all do best, and it just wears us out — he's so full of zest!

We're also dog-sitting a cocker named Molly and her antics, too, keep the scene rather jolly. The floor is a mish-mash of dog "chews" and toys; the room's full of giggles, laughter and noise.

A world of "pretend" came with Superman's cape.

There's also a sunsword and Playdough to shape. Matt's jeep and its trailer in front of the tree hold a little spare tire and Smurfs — there are three.

The candles are burned down, the tree a bit limp, the goodies most eaten (I feel like a blimp!) The washer's been going with all those wet towels and washcloths and undies that all fill its bowels.

The bedrooms are chockful of everyone's stuff; the halls lined with boxes, the "going" gets rough. The shower, dishwasher, hairblowers run hot; for stints in the bathrooms, we have to draw lots.

The ribbons, the bows, the cards and the wrappings, nothing's been cared for, we've one mass of trap-pings to add to the clutter of old home, sweet home (and give me a rhymor for this little "pome.")

The dining room table is full of dish clutter, from bowls that held dressing to plates just for butter. The china and crystal and silver's there, too, guess you can tell we have "kid" things to do.

The ham's still aplenty, there's turkey to "go", the goose didn't "stretch" but put on a good show. We've nibbled and sipped and pigged-out enough and getting this weight off is gonna be tough.

By the time this sees print, the daze'll be past. Then we can worry 'bout famine and fast. Then we can vacuum and dust 'til it hurts, and tuck things away (even press shirts.)

Tomorrow's the time to put things in order. Today is the time to spoil our wee boarder. Tomorrow will find us a twosome once more; today we've our family to share and adore.

THE BOTTOM LINE: Don't be annoyed when your children ask impossible questions. Be proud that they think you know the answers.

Mexican motif highlights Gillespie-Vera ceremony

MR. AND MRS. JAMES T. GILLESPIE

During a double ring ceremony Nov. 6 at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Wayne, Guadalupe Vera became the bride of James Triner Gillespie.

The Rev. Tim Pelc presided at the three o'clock rite which joined in marriage the daughter of Juan and Lenor Vera of Lauren Court, Belleville, and the son of Richard P. and Camille A. Gillespie of Myron Street, Wayne.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride appeared in a high-necked gown from Mexico, the lace creation embellished with sequins and pearls.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was caught to a headpiece of seed pearls which cascaded over her forehead. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of assorted silk roses arranged on a pearl and glass base from Mexico.

Eva Akans of Belleville was her sister's honor attendant with Lana Kent of Canton; Ann Pelphrey of Kentucky and Julie Hodge and Cheryl Wagner of Belleville serving as bridesmaids.

Youngsters in the bridal coterie were Amanda Garza who performed as flower girl and John Paul Gillespie who was ringbearer.

William F. Lutz of Sterling Heights carried out the duties of best man. Groomsmen included Robert Gillespie, Richard Gillespie Jr. and Frank Schaller, all of Wayne, and Bill Smith of Westland.

The Mariachie band directed by Raul Fernandez which had provided music for the wedding ceremony as well as Mexican dancers were featured at the wedding reception which followed at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn.

The newlyweds, who spent their honeymoon at a cottage on Lake Orion, are now making their home in Ypsilanti.

The new Mrs. Gillespie is a 1970 graduate of Belleville High School and her husband a 1970 alumnus of Wayne Memorial High School. Both are employed at General Motors Automotive Division in Ypsilanti.

Belleville Seniors to hold new officers' installation

At the first meeting of the new year for the Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club on Jan. 6, the officers for 1983 will be installed by past-president Elda Bohl.

Taking over as president will be Nelva Watkins; vice-president, George Haft; secretary, Esther Deering; treasurer, Frances Cothorn; and trustee directors, Tom Stevens, James Cheyne and Jeanette Krause.

The Belleville Kitchen Belles Band will be on hand to entertain with their holiday program. Members with January birthdays and wedding anniversaries will be honored with homemade cake and ice cream.

All senior citizens from the area who are not as yet members of the club are welcome to join the group at 6:30 p.m. at Edgemont Elementary School.

Off-campus registration for WCC set for tonight

In an effort to better serve its students, Washtenaw Community College offers many of its credit courses throughout the college district in cooperation with local high schools and other institutions.

Off-campus registration for these classes will be held tonight, Jan. 5, from 7-

8 p.m. Registration will be held at those centers offering the College's courses: the Ann Arbor "Y", Sears at Briarwood and the Ypsilanti Community Center Building along with Ann Arbor Pioneer, Huron, Brighton, Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan, Saline, Whitmore Lake and Willow Run High Schools.

Determinations on whether a class is continued or cancelled will be made on the night of Jan. 5, based upon the number of enrollees.

Students may also register on campus during normal registration hours.

For more information, call 973-3408.

Focus on handicapped conference set at WC

Washtenaw Community College is hosting a leadership training conference devoted to handicappers and others interested in issues affecting the disabled in this area.

The conference, entitled "In the Handicappers' Movement:

Styles, Setting and Strategies," will be held on the WCC campus Jan. 6-7. The chief goal of the conference is the education and training of persons eager for involvement in the handicapper movement.

WCC president Gun-

der Myran will deliver the opening address. To register or obtain more information, contact Marilyn Daniels, program coordinator, 707-D Pray Harold, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, MI 48197, or call 487-0008.

FICTION

"Shaitan" by Max Ehrlich. With the superb skills that have made him one of America's most haunting story-tellers, the author unfolds a memorable and chilling tale of the greatest of all confrontations—Superman vs. Super-beast—two formidable dealers of death, each like none other in its species.

"Oh What a Paradise It Seems" by John Cheever. This is at once a tale of villainy and corruption and a paean to the richness and mystery of life and the delight of loving.

"The Parsifal Mosaic" by Robert Ludlum. A masterful and riveting tale of espionage and intrigue at the highest and lowest—levels of international deception.

"Green Grow the Dollars" by Emma Lathen. What begins as legal detective work turns into murder.

ECOLOGY

"Seafarm" by Elisabeth Borgese. This is a worldwide survey of aquaculture methods. The author reports her own findings and proposed legislation to ensure the rational and efficient use of our aquatic resources.

"Harnessing Water Power for Home Energy" by Dermot McGuigan. For years, the energy from water power turned the wheels of our industries and lighted and sometimes heated our homes. That energy could do it again. There are many small streams that could provide home-use power to many thousands that could build their own small generating systems. Do you live near a stream? This book can tell you how much power you can provide in your own backyard.

our opinions

The enemy in '83 is unemployment

1982 was a year that many of us would probably like to forget. It was a year during which the economy captured the front page headlines almost daily in most of the major newspapers across the country, if not the world.

With the nation mired in debt and borrowing hand and fist to meet its obligations, causing record-level interest rates that led to havoc in the financial centers of the world, stability is finally ahead, it appears.

But the shaky economy produced unemployment in a year that was reminiscent of that black day in October of 1929 when the stock market came tumbling down and took with it the fortunes and lives of millions.

In 1982, people in Western Wayne were in an ugly recall mood; they rejected school millages, and looked to the Democratic Party to lead them out of the turmoil. They put a Democrat into the Governor's Mansion in Lansing and elected a Democrat as the first county executive.

Democrats swept the state, riding into power because the people in power failed "to get this state out of depression." It may not be fair to blame the GOP for Michigan's problems, but when one is down and he looks to Lansing and to Washington for help and the response is "prosperity is just around the corner" — words offered by another Republican during the Great Depression — then one can understand why local voters voted the way they did.

The days and months of 1982 taught other lessons as well. No one is indispensable, we discovered. Elected officials were recalled in Van Buren and school officials in Wayne-Westland were also ousted. Rightly or wrongly, the voices of the people were heard, and the system still survives.

The voters also sent a message to the local schools. They were willing, to a point, to renew tax levies, but they were emphatic when the boards asked for millage increases. With the exception of Riverview, no local or area school district received additional monies.

And, legislators in Lansing will have to grapple with the fiscal realities of life — that increasing taxes to pay for past debts is a poor solution to a problem that needs to be confronted immediately. How can a person standing in an unemployment line be asked to fork over some of the money he needs to feed his children and give it back to the state in the form of a tax?

It doesn't make sense. Like many other things in 1982.

Like President Reagan asking for 33 percent of the national budget for defense... Yes, we believe that this country must stand strong in the face of our enemies. But is the enemy Russia at the present or is it unemployment?

Why were Hitler's armies so successful in the early campaign against the Soviet Union? Because the Soviets saw the German armies as their saviours. People who don't have food are ripe for revolution and riots and those who forget the past are doomed to reliver it, as the adage goes.

The enemy in 1983, as it was in 1982, is unemployment.

Let us fight it as we fought the dictators of the past. We defeated them. We can lick this problem, too, before it destroys many more of our citizens.

We're wondering...

We realize this may be a silly question, but it's been plaguing us ever since the controversy erupted about awarding Wayne's last liquor license to the Chuck Muer franchise.

We can understand why members of the city council would take this step: it was an open invitation to lure a well-known restaurateur into this city. He is surely welcomed.

Wayne needs all the new business and industry that will relocate here and it's too bad there aren't 50 more licenses to award to first class restaurants, as we know the one Muer will build here will be.

Downtown Wayne has a lot going for it and we see an exciting future for our residents. It's too bad that the past mistakes, like clearing all those homes on Michigan Ave during the Urban Renewal debacle, occurred.

But we can't correct the past. We hopefully can learn for it. Now, for our question. What would happen if laundromat franchises were as rare and difficult to obtain as, say, liquor licenses? Would the council also award the last "laundromat license" to an outsider or to a man who has for the past 25 years paid taxes and helped foot the bills this city has incurred over the years?

Please, city council, would someone give us an answer?

Council would be wise to study Master Plan

While the Romulus City Council is studying its latest project, the Wineman proposal to construct a Mobile Park Complex in our city of Romulus, will the learned members of council ask themselves some very pertinent questions?

First, a few years ago, and it escapes my mind when, this city spent thousands upon thousands of taxpayers' dollars to put together a volume which became known as "The Master Plan". That laborious piece of literature and notes was organized so that the city, the council, and the residents could look to the future and see what was ahead.

If I am correct, the Master Plan set forth and laid aside lands for which Mobile Parks could be constructed.

Now, with two such mobile parks already in this city, the Planning Commission has already given its approval, and by a very close 4-3 margin, to the Wineman Project. Let me congratulate those who voted against the project and offer those who supported it a word of advice: Please look at the Master Plan. It's there for your benefit, to help you decide and untangle the confusion.

Why in heavens name did we approve and adopt The Master Plan if we are going to set it aside every time someone offers something to the contrary?

Doesn't our city council have enough guts to tell a prospective builder that "your project doesn't fit in the scheme of things?"

Believe me, I am not against new businesses or new construction coming to Romulus. Romulus has a lot to offer: an Airport, excellent highways, and an exciting community of people and virgin land.

But our elected officials appear to be confused. Is it because we elected them? And we put trust in them?

The argument that the mobile park will bring in people to fill vacant land because there is a lot of vacant land is assinine. When a person marries, he or she looks for the best mate...and when someone comes into your community you want the best.

Is developing that land for a mobile park the best use of the land?

It is my opinion, and the opinion of the people who drew up the Master Plan for this city that it is NOT.

I hope council will learn from past mistakes. Just don't put anything on that land because it is available now. Patience sometimes takes courage.

I'm sure there are enough courageous men on this council to say "No" to Wineman.

Thank God for Donna Osterhout

Tom Mooradian
Managing Editor

Thank God that Donna Osterhout never runs out of causes. And she never runs out of challenges. Like a few years ago when it was obvious that something had to be done for the unemployed and the needy families of the area, the brown-eyed, soft-spoken Osterhout helped organize "Operation Joy".

The program brought together several Inkster churches and community leaders in an effort to raise food and money for the less fortunate.

And people will always find the doors at the Christ United Methodist Church in Inkster opened, especially to those seeking help.

You see, the Rev. Donna Osterhout is a person who believes that "by helping others one does God's work on earth".

And she isn't interested in excuses from those who seek them as a way out.

"It is easy to say 'this or that can't be done', and, maybe that's part of being human. But I believe that we must all roll up our sleeves and help to get things done."

Rev. Osterhout is very impatient with those who grumble, although, "they will always be with us," she says. "Life is fascinating. One must not just sit and let it pass by."

"And, I would certainly like to see the churches, not only in Inkster, but everywhere, lay aside their denominational differences and work together to help people. This is, after all, the work of Jesus Christ as set forth in the scriptures."

On Sunday, Rev. Osterhout will say "good-bye" to Inkster. She will be moving on to "one of the oldest and loveliest churches in Taylor," West Mount. Bishop Ammons has greater plans for this energetic, untiring woman.

She says she has mixed feelings about accepting the appointment because she has grown to love Inkster in her brief 3½ years in the city, but is excited about the challenges that await her in Taylor.

"I love Inkster," Rev. Osterhout says. "Yes, it has its problems, but what viable community doesn't? There is good and bad everywhere, and rosy rhetoric isn't going to solve problems. Working together, however, will."

Born in Detroit and raised in Warren, Rev. Osterhout graduated summa cum laude from the University of Detroit, then attended and graduated from the United Theology Seminary in Dayton, Ohio. The Christ United Methodist Church was her first full-time assignment. She was sent there after serving as a part-time associate at Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church in Dearborn.

She's presently working on a doctorate program at Drew University.

This frail-looking but exceptionally strong woman will be missed in these parts. We know that the downriver communities will appreciate her as much as our communities did.

And, a word of advice for our colleagues in the newspaper profession in those communities: Beware, Rev. Osterhout may be like a fresh breeze off of a river on a warm summer night, but she can also keep you busy with one project after another. "After all there is so much to be done."

Jobless benefit story was 'pure propaganda'

EDITOR — In a state that is attempting to mobilize its limited resources to prevent people from starving this winter, and in a community that has one of the highest unemployment rates in the country, our newspaper, the Associated Newspapers, chooses to print an article by the president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce which states that "high unemployment and welfare benefits make joblessness an increasingly attractive alternative today for many Americans".

The article then goes on to imply that one can get rich by receiving both welfare benefits and unemployment compensation. Since Chamber President Leshner chose, as his only source of information, the Florida Farm Bureau Federation, he apparently isn't aware that in most states, including Michigan, unemployment compensation recipients aren't eligible for welfare benefits; thus making it highly unlikely that anyone in our state would receive anywhere near the $1,143. quoted in the article.

I'm not sure whether the newspaper is attempting to add guilt to the miseries of the unemployed, or if this is just a case of editorial laziness.

I do know that it is easier and cheaper to print "canned" propaganda than it is to find out what's really happening to the people you profess to serve.

Wouldn't we be better served by articles on ways in which the unemployed can find food, clothing and shelter? Or by directing the more fortunate toward ways to help by providing necessary items or money?

You could also provide a valuable service by encouraging government agencies to distribute necessities to this area. Many out-county areas were missed during the recent food distribution because they didn't have access to the Detroit media.

Your newspapers cover an area with a population of over 150,000 people. One out of every five families in that area is out of work. At the very least, a little sensitivity to their problems might be in order.

Apple Tree thanks Jaycees

EDITOR — How do you thank a group of young men devoted and dedicated to doing good?

That's what we, at Apple Tree Lane Convalescent Home in Romulus would like to do. The recipients of our thanks are the Romulus Jaycees and groups such as theirs who come through for organizations in times like these.

The Jaycees contributed so many useable gifts for our Christmas program that we just don't know how to thank them. Maybe a little space in the newspaper to show our appreciation. May God bless them and keep up the good work.

Make 'Christmas' every day?

EDITOR — Christmas is over and gifts and food have been stashed away. But may I ask people not to forget the message that Christmas should remind everybody about.

It seems that people celebrate His birth on the 25th and forget it the 26th and the rest of the year. How else can one explain the number of murders, rapes and robberies — the number of divorces and killings we read about in our newspapers daily, incessantly.

I often wonder if there really has been a time of peace and loving and I turn to the scriptures for an answer. Even during His reign there were wars and pestilence and hunger.

Will there ever come a time when mankind really has peace and jobs and one doesn't covet the other's belongings or status? It seems that only on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day the world is at peace with itself.

Can't we change the calendar and make Dec. 25 every day of the year?

Thank you for listening.

Enough trading of barbs

EDITOR — With this city trying desperately to make ends meet, our elected officials continue to "trade barbs" and are "At it Again", according to your newspapers' headlines.

And who pays while Westland burns? You guessed it — the taxpayers. I, for the life of me, can't understand why intelligent people can't work together for the good of the people. When we put a man or woman in office we believe they will keep their promise and build a city that we can all be proud about.

After all, just because someone doesn't belong to the same party you do doesn't mean you should trade barbs with him all the time. It's a wonder that anything get accomplished in this city.

Can we suggest that the Council and the Mayor bury the hatchet, and not in each others' backs, and begin to work together? Or, will we, the taxpayers have to "ax" them out of office?

DAVID MALONEY

Who's living in terror?

EDITOR — After reading Managing Editor's Tom Mooradian's recent column headlined: "Living in Terror" may I suggest that he discuss the problem in the neighborhood with some of the "victim's neighbors"? He may find that the problem isn't the neighbors.

We agree with him that "no man, or woman in this society should live in terror..." However, if anyone is living in terror it isn't the person he wrote about. The neighborhood has been a peaceful and decent one to live in.

We have tried to keep the residential area clean — may we suggest that someone enter this area and take a good look around. Then write the story.

Again, we don't challenge the writer's ability to put prose together. He did a fine job. But why not talk to some of the neighbors in that area and you'll find that it isn't all that it appears to be.

Please do not use my name.
INKSTER RESIDENT

Senseless killing

EDITOR — To those who are against capital punishment, please reconsider. I believe the time is now right for us to band together and petition this state to put to death those who would kill a nine-month-old infant.

I am alluding to the senseless recent slaying in Detroit of two educators and their infant. How could anyone, in his right mind, kill a nine-month-old child?

What has happened to our society? And when are these senseless killings going to stop?

We are sick and tired of hearing from the people who say that these killers are sick. They need treatment. They need help. I believe the best help in the world for them and for society is to get rid of them. Anyone who would stab to death a nine-month-old infant isn't going to be saved by society.

I believe the death penalty should be reinstated.

Westworld got bum rap

EDITOR — I've been meaning to write this letter for a long time now but got busy over the holidays and didn't do it. I think it's disgraceful what those neighbors did to Westworld.

My family and I went there several times and it was one of the nicest family places in Westland. The food and service was excellent and the video and games rooms were clean and well guarded.

There were no rowdies in there, either.

The last time we were there, my husband and I walked out onto the part of the golf course where the parking lot was supposed to go, to see just how close the houses of the people who did the complaining really were. You almost needed binoculars to see them!

It's a real shame when the city council, who is supposed to be promoting new businesses, backs down because of a few loud-mouthed people.

I'll bet none of them even went there to see what it was really like.

reflections

Fathers and daughters

When I was a little kid, mostly what I wanted to be when I grew up was to be a wife and mother.

The Christmas vacation is over. It is time for our youngest to go back to school. I am going to drive her across the state this afternoon... that is, if I can find her. I know she is somewhere under the debris sleeping, dreaming of a wonderful Christmas's past, probably. Her father is also asleep, dreaming of tomorrow when Christmas will be officially over.

It has been hard on him, although one would think that after six kids he would have gotten used to it. It probably has something to do with belonging to the Golden Club, where all the members dream about peace and quiet.

But it's like I tell him, "You can't have had a kid when you were 45 and expect to be a member in good standing of the Golden Club, at 65, can you?"

He does a lot of growling when this is mentioned and I am never sure whether he is growling over having had a kid at 45, or growling over being reminded he is a senior citizen.

I can't believe it is the latter however, because just yesterday he was standing in front of the mirror and flexing his muscles and patting his lean, hard stomach and gloating over the fact that he can still get in his Air Force uniform, and not a button is strained.

But even though he doesn't look like a senior citizen and he doesn't act like a senior citizen, and he has a lean, hard stomach, and youthful muscles, he can get pretty grumpy; testy, that is, when he walks upstairs and trips over the radio sitting in the middle of the hall, blaring obscene loudness to the kid in the bathroom, who has been in there five hours, getting ready to ride over to Big Boy's for a Slim Jim.

One would think that after raising five other kids and getting them all safely launched, and the house cleaned up, that one would have gotten immune to one young girl, who, I figure has about three more years before she races out to greet the world.

When I said this to her father while he was clawing his way up from clothes and books and make-up kits, stereo records and stuffed animals, through which he had fallen when he unsuspiciously opened the door to her bedroom, he groaned and made a lot of faces and said he wasn't going to be able to live that long.

God probably knew that father's have a hard time adjusting to the life style of young daughters, and that is why he created the feminist movement so that girls would go out and get educated so they could be like men, and not have to torture father's any more.

My kid's father says that what girls need is about four years in the armed services.

"That would teach them to be neat," he says, while he's pushing all the loose change from his pockets around on top of his dresser, where it gets mixed up with golf tees and unsold barbeque tickets, shirt buttons he is hoping will get sewed back on shirts, and sundry other things that only men can think about saving... on top of their dressers.

"She would only be in the Air Force a few weeks before she would learn how to hang up her clothes and clean out the tub, and rinse loose hair down the sink," he says as he pulls off his socks and throws them in the corner.

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"Girls should have the same training as young men in the military," he continues as he hangs his shirt on the post of the bed, and drapes his slacks over an open drawer of his dresser.

When my kid wakes up she will throw all of her stuff from the floor and chairs and dresser tops into a big box and take it up to school to sort out. Her father will be able to relax in his neat bedroom because all of his stuff will have been picked up by the wife he found while in the airforce.

"You might talk to her," he will say as we get in the car for the long drive.

"I will," I promise, but I know I won't because as soon as she gets settled into her corner of the seat she will turn the radio on full blast... and go to sleep.

And to think that when I was a little kid, mostly what I wanted when I grew up was to be a wife and mother...

MONA GRIGG

Oddly enough, writing about happiness and contentment is the hardest kind of writing. By the next morning, we almost never like what we wrote.

But there is great satisfaction in putting thoughts into words by way of print. Even when we are the only ones who ever see them.

In fact, when people ask me how to start writing, I tell them to write 5,000 words that nobody is ever going to see. Then throw that 5,000 away and start on another 5,000. By that time you should feel comfortable enough with words so that you'll wonder what you were ever afraid of. And by the time you finish the second 5,000, the thoughts will flow faster than you can write them down.

Now, putting them into some kind of agreeable form is your problem. I've rewritten this column four times now, and it's still not right. But that's the way it goes, more often than not.

mona grigg

From thoughts to words to paper

I have a sister-in-law who regales us with the most wonderful, funny stories. They have beginnings, middles and endings. The beginnings make us want to beg for more. The middles carry the story along perfectly. The endings never fail to satisfy...yet when I suggest to her that she should be writing those stories down, she howls in fright. "Are you kidding?" she says, "I could never write anything."

I have a friend who has lived a long and exciting life. She has done more in her lifetime than most people could do in ten. She has a marvelous gift for words, but the most she has done with them is to write a couple of short, clever poems. "I have so much inside of me," she says, "So many feelings. I wish I could write..."

People say it all the time. "I wish I could write..." When they say it to me, I'm not very sympathetic, I'm afraid.

It isn't that I don't care — it's that I don't understand.

My feeling about writing is that if a person has learned how to put together full sentences on paper, a person has learned to write.

Usually, a person has mastered full sentences on paper by about the third grade.

I know, of course, what those people are really saying. They are saying they wish they had the courage to write what they feel.

There is a real fear of putting thoughts down on paper. Writers who have been writing forever still feel that fear. There's a difference, though, between the writer who has to use words to earn his keep and the writer who wants to use words to clarify thoughts and feelings.

The professional writer has to worry constantly about whether he or she is good enough. Whether anyone really cares about what he or she writes...and whether, if he or she is good, the skill can be sustained.

None of those pressures are on the writer who writes for his or her own pleasure or satisfaction, but the fear is every bit as acute.

Inexperienced writers all seem to have one thing in common: they all think that, once their words appear in writing, they are etched in stone. Once a thought is down, that's it. It's there forever, for better or for worse.

My own writing eased up considerably when I learned the magic word: Rewrite.

I discovered, by reading a writer's magazine, that even the greatest of the great rewrite, rewrite, rewrite. I can still remember throwing away my first whole page with writing on it and starting over again. It was like tearing my heart out.

But what followed was a liberation of sorts. It meant, from then on, that I could write to my heart's content without worrying about whether it was good or bad. If I thought it was good, I kept it. If I thought it was bad, I chucked it.

That's the way any writing can be. Self-consciousness disappears when you can convince yourself that none of those words are sacred. That they're all expendable. And that it's really kind of fun when you relax a little.

Writing what we feel is an amazing kind of therapy. Getting it down on paper gives those feelings form and substance. If we're angry or sad, sometimes putting it in writing is all it takes. The anger or the sadness finds an outlet and goes away.

Views On Dental Health

By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

SPACE MAINTAINERS

If a child's front tooth is knocked out by accident, under the right circumstances and time-frame, it might be able to be replanted successfully. However, if the knocked-out tooth is a baby tooth, due to fall out soon, the dentist may do nothing. A missing back tooth, however, whether lost by accident or extraction, needs a space maintainer to prevent other teeth from drifting into the space. An overcrowded space would prevent the permanent tooth from coming in properly.

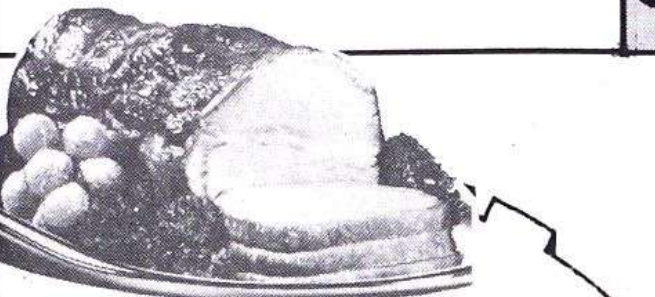

There are a number of devices available depending on the situation. The most common types involve putting a metal band over the tooth on either side of the space, taking an impression, and then joining the bands by attaching a metal bar to each. The bands are cemented to the teeth, and the bar prevents the teeth from drifting toward each other.

It is just as important that the space maintainer be removed at the proper time (when the permanent tooth comes in) or there will be new problems. Therefore, it is important to have your child see the dentist regularly, especially if he or she has a space maintainer.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S., 9840 Haggerty Rd., Belleville, Phone 697-4400.

Yes, icefishing can be fun

By BOB SAWITSKI
Special to Playtime

If you walk through the sporting goods section of any department store, you'll find the shelves piled high with icefishing tackle.

A casual observer would have a difficult time understanding why anyone in his right mind would subject his body to such an insane pastime as fishing on a body of water that has frozen solid.

Not only does an icefisherman have to contend with the elements, but his mobility is severely impaired both by heavy clothing and by the fact that every time he wants to move to a different spot, he has to cut, chop, drill or spud another hole through ice that sometimes can be four or five feet thick.

He sits on a stool or an overturned bucket for hours on end in sleet, blustery winds and snowstorms, falls on his can every third or fourth step and — if he's really lucky — he'll have a few dinky perch to show for his efforts.

An icefisherman would be hard pressed to come up with an explanation on why he finds it so enjoyable.

Perhaps these tips, prepared by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, will help make your ice fishing trips even more enjoyable.

TECHNIQUES—There are three basic ways to go about icefishing: with handlines, tip-ups, or spears.

The first two are the most popular, probably because they are the simplest and can be used for taking just about every kind of legal fish that swims in Michigan waters.

Spear fishing is a more specialized sport which puts a premium on patience and accuracy.

HOOK AND LINE — In getting geared up, you'll want a short fishing rod two to three feet in length. A limber rod is usually preferred for catching panfish and trout, and a stiff rod, which aids in setting the hook, for pike, walleyes and muskies.

If you're after big fish, a free-running reel, instead of the usual line-winding cleat, is a must. It will allow you to "play" your fish. And when used without a bobber, this reel will let you change your fishing depth easily.

Fishing line should be transparent monofilament. Not over four-pound test is recommended for panfish and brown and rainbow trout. Anglers who fish for pike and muskies use line as heavy as eight- to 12-pound test.

Neglecting to use light line is probably the most frequent mistake of unsuccessful fishermen. Occasionally, fish will break light line, but with some finesse, you can land most fish and are certain to have more bites.

When it comes to the bobber, the smaller the better, as long as it's big enough to stay afloat. The boat buoyance and lure weight should be balanced so the slightest nibble will sink the bobber and offer minimum resistance to the fish. If the float is too big, fish often spit out the bait.

TIP-UPS — Tip-ups equipped with reels and flags are used mostly for larger fish. They are cheap to buy and easy to make.

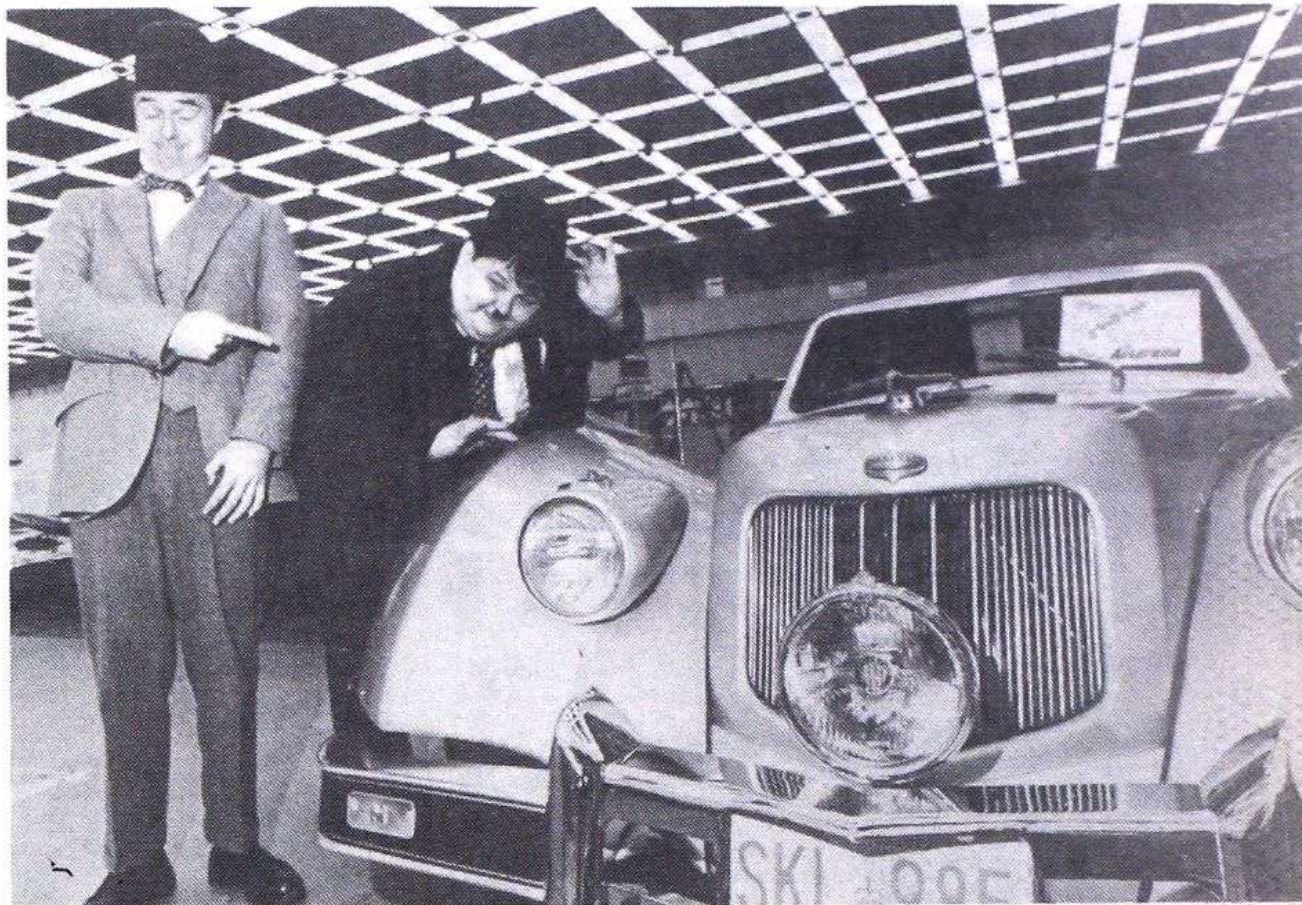

There is no big trick to operating tip-ups; They are merely baited and set out. When a fish bites, the flag flies up and the fun begins. The rest is up to the fisherman and he goes to it by giving his line a solid jerk, setting the hook. Next, he pulls the line in rapidly, hand over hand. When the fish is near the hole, it's time to play it careful.

In their haste, anglers more frequently lose their catches at this point by trying to get the fish on the ice before it is ready. Be prepared to let the line slip through your fingers — but always with some tension.

Tip-ups are especially nice to have in colder weather when it's hard to stand guard over fishing holes for a long period of time. Once the tip-ups are set out, the fisherman can retire to a warm shanty and wait for the action to pop.

Or, tip-ups give an angler a chance to try their luck at handline fishing at the same time. But remember — Michigan fishing laws permit an angler to use only two poles at the same time. This means

THE ISLAND. Michael Caine stars as an intrepid reporter investigating a story behind a series of mysterious disappearances in the Caribbean, only to run afoul of a lost tribe of pirates who plot his weird execution while setting him up for a romantic interlude with the most suitable of the tribes women. Also stars David Warner, Angela Punch, McGregor, and Jeffrey Frank.

SAT., JAN. 15

9-11:30PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

BURT REYNOLDS
"HOOPER"

HOOPER. Burt Reynolds returns as the hot, reigning king of the brawling, risking, fun-loving Hollywood stuntmen... as the scars on his pain-racked body will attest. This is actually a very autobiographical film in many ways: Sally Field plays Burt's live-in girlfriend whose dad "Jocko" (Brian Keith) is an aging stuntman; (Ms. Field's real step-father is Jock O'Mahoney, a former stuntman who later played Tarzan after dropping the "O" from his name); and Robert Klein does a savage impersonation of director Peter Bogdanovich who directed Burt's biggest flop (At Long Last Love), but Mr. Reynolds gets his own back in this one. Also starring Jan-Michael Vincent, Terry Bradshaw and Norman "Woo-woo" Grabowski. Relax and enjoy... this is pure fun!

TUES., JAN. 18

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

ILLUSIONS. Karen Valentine is an American western wear designer entangled in chilling patterns of international intrigue after her husband is reported killed in a mysterious plane explosion off the coast of France. A taut thriller.

WED., JAN. 19

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)

ANOTHER WOMAN'S CHILD. Film about a happily married childless woman who must act as a step-mother to the daughter her husband secretly fathered years earlier through an illicit affair. Stars Linda Lavin, Tony LoBinco, Joyce Van Patten, Doris Roberts, Ron Rifkin, and Alba Oms.

Producer offers radio positions

Looking for a way to gain experience in broadcasting? "Starting Point," a local radio program produced by Joseph Newcomb of Wayne, is geared to provide such experience at no cost to high school and college students.

Aired Saturdays at 10:30 p.m. on WCAR (1090 AM), the show was launched last July and is sponsored by the Kmart Corp. The program incorporates interviews, musical acts, creative writing and commercials, all taped at the WCAR studios.

Newcomb, a songwriter and free lance bassist, serves as producer and program director with Regina Newcomb as associate producer of promotion

Icefishing

SPEARING — An absolute "must" is to have a dark shanty which eliminates the chance of fish seeing you and being spooked. If you have a stove in your shanty, make sure the flow from it is blocked. The shanty itself should be sturdily built so the sound from your movements inside will not travel through the ice. The fisherman should wear dark clothing and gloves.

For the sake of accuracy, use a spear that is weighted.

Those that aren't have to be thrown too hard and this tends to make them angle off course.

Overall weight of the spear depends upon the fisherman's tastes and the kind of fish he's going after.

The spear used on sturgeon may weigh as much as 18 pounds. Your spear should have seven to nine strong tines and about a seven-foot handle with a rope attached so you won't lose it.

In attaching the rope, run it through a cotterpin on the spear's handle down the tines where it is tied fast or secured with a metal ring. When you hit the mark and Barbara McIntire as co-host. "Starting Point" has been renewed for another 13-week run.

Openings are available in the following areas: broadcast interns to co-host, do interviews or commercials; local musical acts (pop, jazz, rock, blues, classical) and creative writers (poems, short stories, comedy).

Those interested should provide their name, address, phone number and area of interest to Newcomb at Starting Point/Ash Street Music Production, 35260 Ash, Wayne, 48184.

Doll house displayed

Hand-painted dishes, oriental rugs and a 20-room doll house are among the exhibits on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum until Jan. 30.

Included in the doll house are such rooms as a nursery, sewing room, pantry, drawing room, parlor and attic along with various antique furnishings, accessories and dolls. Hand-made lace table cloths, weather vanes, cross stitching and miniature metal fireplace utensils also are displayed.

The museum, located at 155 S. Main Street, is open Thursday, Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for those 12 to 17 years of age and 25 cents for children five to 11.

Romulus cagers continue their skid

Eagles routed at Inkster classic by Robichaud, Pioneer

After dropping two lopsided decisions at the Inkster Holiday Basketball Tournament, Coach Al Wilkerson and his Romulus Eagles hope to be at full strength this week for the second half of the cage season.

Romulus was overwhelmed by Dearborn Heights Robichaud 58-39 in the first round of the holiday classic and lost a one-sided 75-56 decision to Ann Arbor Pioneer in the consolation round as the Eagles' over-all record dipped to 1-5 on the season.

The Eagles were scheduled to meet Belleville for their first test of the New Year last night (Wednesday) before traveling to New Boston Huron for a rare Saturday evening performance.

"In both games we got off to late starts and spotted our rivals between 15 to 20 points, then tried unsuccessfully to get them back. It didn't work," Coach Wilkerson said. "When you spot teams like Pioneer and Robichaud 15 points you don't expect to win."

Romulus was also at a disadvantage due to key injuries. Three starters — Keith Stevenson, a 6-2 forward, is out with a sprained ankle; Bryon Lewis is suffering from the flu, while Terry Mills, a 6-5 freshman center is recuperating from a broken elbow. Mills is expected to be back in the line-up next week.

But, until then, the Eagles are hurting. They shot a miserable 4-of-25 in the first half against Robichaud and fell behind 14-5 after the first period and trailed 33-9 at the intermission.

Although they came back and out-scored their rivals 13-8 in the third period, the fatal damage had been inflicted and Romulus suffered its fourth loss in five starts.

Kevin Baker collected 11 points, the only player to hit in two figures for the Eagles who had only 15 baskets and made but nine of 23 chances from the free throw line.

Pioneer, which had defeated Romulus earlier in the season, jumped to a 29-8 first period lead and never looked back as the Eagles tried to play catch-up.

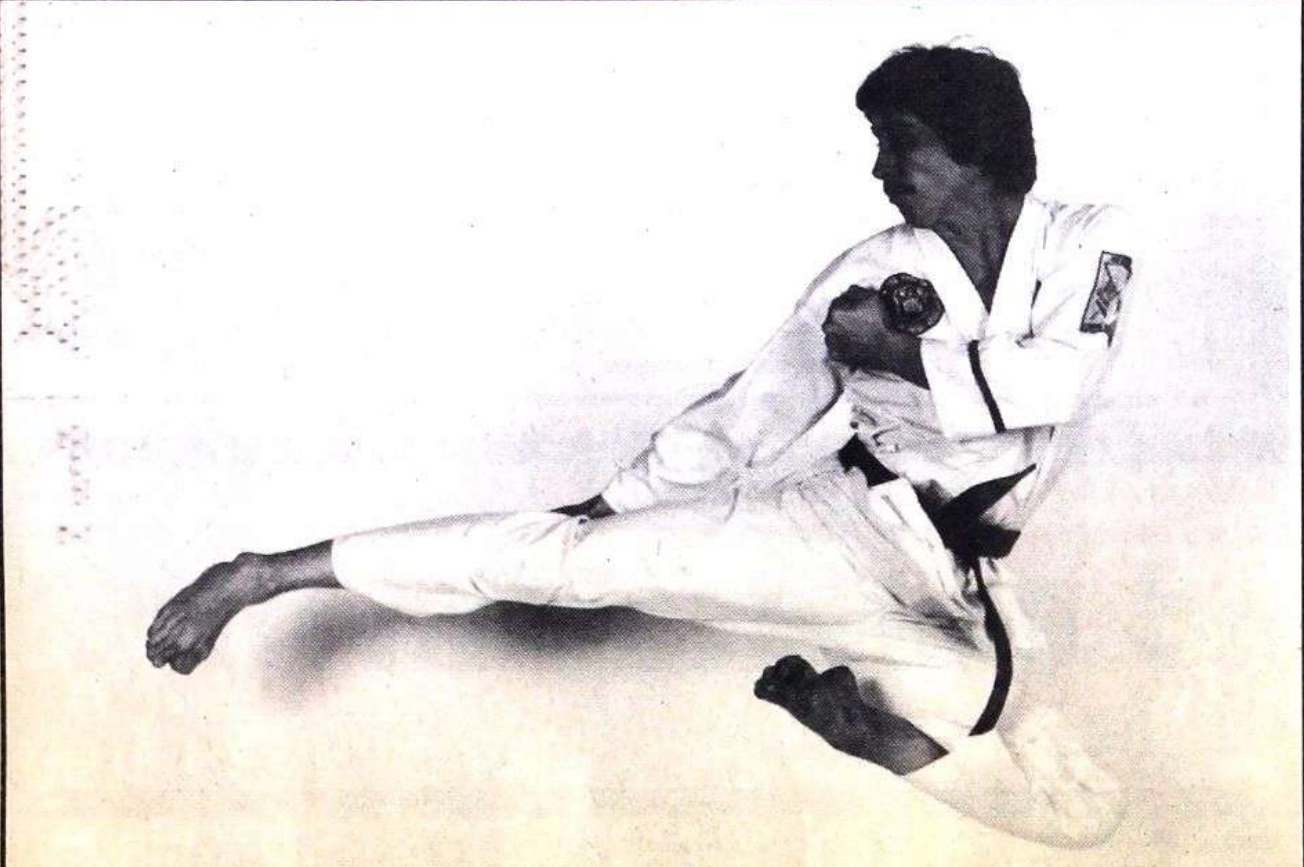

Romulus faced a 48-24 halftime deficit and with Baker, Grant Long and Shaun Perkins supplying most of the scoring power in the second half, the Eagles managed to make it look good, but they never caught up.

Baker drilled in seven field goals and two of four from the goal line for 16 points and Long chipped in 15 points while Perkins came up with 11 points and also 14 rebounds.

Pioneer received double figures from four of its starters with Howard scoring a game high 18 points.

"Our problem is, of course, we can't get the ball in the hoop," Wilkerson said. "And that's the name of the game. This is the first time I can recall that any of our teams have been held to nine points for an entire half."

"These kids are going to have to sharpen up or we're in trouble. We still have the major portion of the schedule to play."

A masterful instructor

Another honor was bestowed upon Wayne instructor Ronald W. Rose. The Black Belt recipient recently was promoted to 4th degree Master Instructor, one of the highest levels awarded a karate instructor. In order to obtain the title, an instructor "is tested for physical and teaching abilities including leadership and training. Rose traveled to Florida where he assisted U.S.C.D.K.A. association president, Tom Sell, in conducting a seminar and Black Belt testing. It was at this seminar where he (Rose) also was tested and later presented the Master Instructor honor. Master Rose has promoted 20 students to Black Belt. He also holds the positions of technical advisor to U.S. Chung Do Kwan Association; a member of the executive board of the U.S.C.D.K.A. and also master instructor to all Michigan programs.

4 gold medalists

Wayne wrestlers dominate Bay City Invitational

Wayne Memorial wrestlers and head coach Don Haney celebrated the New Year in classic style. Competing against a field of 16 high school teams, including Class A defending state champ, Bedford Temperance, and state-ranked Flint Northern, the Zebras captured the Bay City Western Christmas Wrestling Championships.

Four of Wayne's representatives returned from Bay City with gold medals. T. J. Harris proved to be the best 105-pounder in the tournament as he outwrestled Clio's Greg Earmontraut in the finals 11-4, while teammate Dave Davis overpowered Davison's Jeff Boismier, 8-3, for the 98-pound title.

also received a sparkling performance from 145-pounder James Ertman who pinned Bridgeport's Mike Marcogliese in 5:21 for his gold medal.

"The boys wrestled very well," Haney said, "and several of our people came through better than we had anticipated. Plus we received the usual fine performance from our key people and that was the difference."

Wayne has two crucial meets scheduled within a seven day period. They'll meet always tough Detroit Catholic Central in a dual meet and also place their title on the block when they compete in the annual Schoolcraft College Invitational on Saturday.

Haney feels his team has an excellent shot of repeating it at Schoolcraft.

"Our chances are good to duplicate last year's effort," he said. "I feel that we have enough strength in our line-up to be among the leaders and contend for the championship."

Wayne volleyballers win Henry Ford tourney

Wayne Memorial returned from Dearborn last week with the Henry Ford Yuletide Volleyball Invitational Championship Trophy tucked in its mitts.

The perennial powerhouse defeated a tough Bishop Borgess contingent in the finals to capture the championship. The Zebras took two out of three from their rivals, coming back from a 15-7 loss in the opener to win 16-8 and 15-11 thanks to some exceptional serves by Laura and Lisa Hayes.

"This is probably one of the smartest teams I've ever coached," said Wayne mentor Doris Busuito, whose teams have been among the best in the state. "It's been just a pleasure to watch them act and react on the floor."

"We can have an exciting season if we

Ski clinics scheduled

If mother nature will supply the snow, the Canton Parks and Recreation Department will come up with the ski instructors.

The recreation department will hold ski clinics beginning on Wed., Jan. 19 and subsequent weeks on Feb. 3 and Feb. 15 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

There is a $4.50 per person registration fee with skiers supplying their own equipment. For an additional $2, the recreation department will provide the skis, boots, poles and instruction.

The clinic will be held at the Maybury State Park, a 10 minute drive from the township. The registration fee will entitle participants to lessons by certified ski instructors "and plenty of time to enjoy the beautiful trails of Maybury State Park."

Skiers must reserve a spot at least two days prior to each clinic. Telephone the recreation department at 397-1000.

Glenn humbles Fordson cagers

Using a tenacious defense and the scoring touch of Todd Jennings and Mike Baydarian, the Rockets of Westland John Glenn drove the Dearborn Fordson Tractors into the ground, 77-49, to finish third in the Henry Ford Community College Christmas Tournament.

As a result of this game, the Rockets raised their record to 6-2 entering the 1982 portion of the season.

Jennings took charge in the first quarter as he hounded highly-touted Fordson guard Frank Mikalonis and came up with several key steals. He scored five points in the quarter as Glenn led 18-8 at the end of the period. Paul Grazulis, who had scored 19 points the night before in the loss to Toledo Scott, scored six points.

Glenn, a hustling team, never let up on defense all night. They had done the same thing on Tuesday night to Toledo Scott, one of Ohio's top prep teams, as the Bulldogs prevailed, 59-46. However, they knew they were in a dogfight from the very beginning. The Rockets played most of that game without Greg Gill, recovering from a bout with the flu.

Gill felt much better against Fordson, scoring 11 points on the night and igniting several fast breaks. One of his assists was a lob pass to Baydarian who neatly laid it in for the score.

The player of the night on defense had to be Jack Walker, who played like a man possessed. Grabbing nearly every loose ball that came his way (and even some that didn't), Walker controlled the boards the entire evening and made life miserable for Tractor forwards Barry Quayle and Mustafa Hamid.

If Glenn had taken charge in the first quarter, then they took complete control in the second. The Rockets outscored the Tractors, 21-6 in the quarter to grab a 39-14 lead at halftime. Gill, Jennings and Baydarian combined for 17 points in the period. The Rockets hit 11 free throws in the quarter as the Tractors made a futile effort to gain possession of the ball.

In the second half, Henry was at liberty to substitute freely (and he would have substituted him too if he was on the bench). One of the players he went to was junior guard Jeff Hawley, who played perhaps his best overall game of the year.

Baydarian shot the lights out in the third quarter, scoring 10 of his game-high 20 points. It was by far his best shooting night of the season and for his efforts was named to the All-Tournament team. Grazulis also joined his teammate on that team.

The thirteen young men from Glenn accepted the third place trophy at the end of the game but the one they want says "Northwest Suburban League Champions 1982-83". And they get a chance to advance that dream Friday night at Thurston, currently tied for the first with Glenn. An extremely well-coached team, Thurston will be a major test for the Rockets. Prior to that game, Glenn will play at Livonia Churchill on Tuesday.

Ten Pin Topics

Watching bowlers post high scores

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI

How many times have you been in the position of having fellow bowlers shoot astronomical scores while you have trouble getting your ball to make its way into the pit?

No matter how hard you work or what you try nothing seems right. And for them everything goes along without a hitch. I was in that unenviable position recently when two of my team mates proceeded to record some outstanding numbers while I struggled to hit a 100 pins under average for the night.

Jay Dishong, one of the better technicians and instructors in this area, put 12 straight balls in the 1-3 pocket for a 300 game and it seemed completely effortless. Jay did admit that although this was his fourth perfect game it was the first time he wasn't nervous for the last few frames.

The other young man, Mike Kane, put on a display of pocket shooting that would impress the most hardened of critics. Mike had games of 255-267-243 for a 765 series.

During this performance he threw a total of 29 strikes and at one point was keeping up with Jay until a couple of stubborn pins stopped his assault on a 300 game and the 800 series plateau. In all Mike had two oepn frames, both big splits on perfectly good hits, and three spares, one each game.

Also at Westland Bowl Bob Pniewski has come up with anothe rway for our young bowlers to gain experience on their road to the future. About once every 4 to 6 weeks an exhibition is held which features the leading scorers from the youth leagues versus bowlers from the Westaldn mixed classic.

These so called "kids" are true competitors and as enthusiastic and intense as you will find. I have no doubts that many of htese 9 young men and one young lady will bein in the spotlight time and time again.

One team consisted of 16-year-old Chris LaFane, a pretty little lady carrying a 165 average and the top scorer on her team with a 597 series; 173 average 16-yr. old Joe Mamrotski; 179 average 18-year-old Steve Demaree; 179 average 19 yr. old Ken Gabrielson; and the old man of the group 199 average 29-year-old Dave Burgos. As a team this group averaged 189 plus per game, not including handicap, and very narrowly lost 2 of the 3 games in the match.

The other team had 177 average 17-year-old Aaron Mueller; 187 average 16-year-old Mike Voyles; 190 Average 16-year-old Brian Pirtchard, 199 average 16-year-old Donn Wolfe; and 184 average 17-year-old John Berlongieri. This group averaged just under 188 per game and won one game and total pins and tied one game.

Keep these names in mind because you will be seeing them in the future and watch this column for the date of the next exhibition.

Other scoring highlights included Cass Kliza with a 738 series; Bud LeBlone Jr. hitting 725; Mike Cawetzka with a 720; and Jeff Jogan at 709.

Town "N" Country lanes featured Lloyd McNabb, with a 188 average, hitting a 288 game on his way to a 719 series

Want to improve your golf?

Winter is usually a tough time for Michigan golfers who have to wait for the ice and cold weather to disappear so they can play their favorite sport again.

But now golfers can improve their game indoors during these cold months and even have use of video replay to perfect their swing.

Hilltop Golf Course is operating an indoor golf school through March 15 at 47000 Powell Rd., 1 1/2 miles west of Sheldon Road at Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth.

Instructions are by PGA professionals John Jawor, Stan Jawor, Frank Jawor and Cass Jawor. Six half-hour golf lessons cost only $42 and there is a video replay machine to show the golfer how she or he is progressing. Seasonal cost is $75.

The indoor golf school is open every day from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and 453-9800 may be called for information.

CANCELLATIONS AND CORRECTIONS

Read your ad carefully the first time it appears, and report any errors before the next edition. This will be the only proof you will receive. Errors should be reported immediately, as Associated Newspapers, Inc. can be responsible for the first incorrect insertion only. NO CASH REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

PUBLICATION POLICY

The publisher reserves the right to edit or reject and properly classified advertising submitted for publication. Publisher shall not be held liable for typographical errors except to the extent of the cost of first insertion and then only for that portion of ad that may have been rendered valueless by such error. Advertisers are advised to check their ad immediately after it appears in the paper and report at once any error found. Claims for error adjustment must be made immediately after ad is published.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED AD

1. IT'S ALWAYS BEST to start your advertisement with the name of the item or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment house for rent or property for sale, it's better to start your advertisement with the location.
2. BE CLEAR. Readers react more quickly and favorably when given complete or detailed information. One of the most important considerations of any advertisement is to include the price.
3. MAKE IT EASY for the reader to respond to your ad. ALWAYS include your telephone number or your name and address if you do not have regular hours, state a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
4. PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good classified ad.
5. CLASSIFIED READERS are already interested in buying used or new merchandise. These people have the money and are in the market to buy. Give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
6. CLASSIFIED ADS THAT FAIL do not go through a lack of readership, but because they are often quickly worded and do not contain enough information to prompt action.
